

Redefining Marriage Has Profound Consequences for New York Families

When David Weprin helped redefine marriage to be “genderless,” his vote subjected anyone who doesn’t accept this definition to legal consequences. It doesn’t matter what your personal, family or religious views about marriage might be.

HERE ARE EXAMPLES OF WHAT HAS HAPPENED IN OTHER STATES:

- Massachusetts second graders were taught in class that boys can marry other boys. They were force-fed a book in class called “King & King” about a prince who marries another prince. Federal courts ruled parents had no constitutional right to object.
- Catholic Charities in Massachusetts, Washington, DC and Illinois have been forced to close their adoption agencies because they believe that children should have both a mother and a father.
- A religious organization in New Jersey had its tax exemption partially revoked because it would not make its private property available for gay civil union ceremonies, which are against their religious teachings.
- A New Mexico wedding photographer was found guilty and fined for refusing to photograph a gay “commitment” ceremony against her religious beliefs.
- A lesbian middle-school sex-ed instructor in Massachusetts taught her students how to perform lesbian sex. When asked about parent protests, she said, “Give me a break. It (gay marriage) is legal now.”
- California kindergartners were taken to a lesbian wedding. The school called it a “teachable moment.”
- California public schools invited a “gender diversity” consultant into fourth grade classes to teach kids they can choose to be a boy, or a girl, or be both genders!

DAVID WEPRIN REDEFINED MARRIAGE AND GAVE NEW YORKERS NO SAY

Assemblyman David Weprin abandoned our values and betrayed New York families by voting to redefine marriage. He turned it from the union of a man and a woman into any two people regardless of gender. Because of David Weprin, "genderless marriage" is the only legally recognized definition of marriage in New York.

- Worse, Weprin refused to allow New York voters to cast a vote on the definition of marriage, as voters in 31 other states have been able to do.
- Weprin denied us our right to vote on marriage. Now he wants to be our Representative in Congress.
- Let David Weprin and the other politicians in Albany know that you demand your right to vote on marriage!

On Sept. 13th, Reject David Weprin. Elect Bob Turner to Congress.
